THEIR WORK IS FINISHED

Board of Registration Closes.

DID A BIG DAY'S WORK

Two Hundred and Thirty-Nine Voters Signed Yesterday-- Total of 5891.

Promptly at 10 o'clock last evening the Board of Registration closed its doors, and with signs of relief the members of the Board took their departure from the booth where they have spent most of their time for the last few weeks.

At the hour of closing the number of voters registered was exactly 5,891, 239 having been registered yesterday. During the dying hours of the Board there was little business and the room was full of lookers on to joke the last few to come forward and to watch the Board to its last work.

Ten minutes before the hour for closing a question arose that was one of the most knotty ones that the Board has had brought before it. A man named August Aaron came up to be registered. He had just returned from a three month's trip to the Coast and it appeared that during his absence from Honolulu he had not maintained a residence here. He had left his tools which he used in his trade as a carpenter in the place where he had worked and he had retained his position and it was fully understood that he was to return as soon as he had paid a visit to friends and relatives in California.

"But did you retain a residence in Honolulu while you were gone?" asked Mr. Andrews.

"No, I am afraid I did not," said Aaron. "I took all my belongings, clothes and so forth with me."

"Then I do not see how we can register you," Mr. Andrews said. "The law distinctly says that in order to be eligible for registration a man must have had his residence in the precinct in which he means to vote for three months prior to the time when he applies for registration. Now you had no residence here and you can scarcely say that you have a right to vote."

Aaron agreed with him and turned reluctantly away. Not so with Tommy Lucas however. He wanted the man registered and he protested long and loud but he could not show that the man had had a residence here during the necessary three months.

"If you care to sue out a writ of mandamus against us," Mr. Andrews finally said, "it can be done and the man will be registered as of this evening should the Supreme Court decide that he had a right to be registered."

But this was going too far for Lucas and he gave it up.

The last man to be registered was Frank E. Nichols of Wall, Nichols & Company, and as he finished taking the oath the hands of the clock pointed to 10 o'clock and the Board closed up.

The Board was hard worked all day. During the two sessions there was a steady stream of would-be voters in line. Many were disappointed but the majority passed. The number of Portuguese voters was on the increase, while the Hawaiians continued to present themselves in the same proportion as during the previous thirty-eight days of the registration.

Some of the Portuguese who have been naturalized by the United States Circuit Court were refused registration by reason of their being unable to read understandingly from newspapers and pamphlets and to explain what they were able to read. Some of them could hardly write English words. A simple sentence such as "I see the mice" puzzled many of them. The man who could not write the latter sentence was told that he had better wait to register until the next election came along.

A Portuguese who had just been naturalized came smilingly up to the counter.

"Are you naturalized?" asked Lorrin Andrews.

"Yes—a Democrat," was the simple reply. "Independent" George Markham looked worried. This would-be voter was turned down because he could neither read nor write understandingly in the English language.

Another Portuguese struck a similar snag. It was questioned by one of the Registrars as to how the man would be able to make out his ballot at the polls with such a limited vocabulary. He was similarly disposed of.

HOMESTEADS ON KAUALA.

Commissioner Brown Examines Land Which May be Opened.

J. F. Brown, Commissioner of Lands, has returned from a trip to Kauai where he went to investigate the matter of opening certain lands near Koloa for homestead settlement. There are about 4000 acres of government land which will soon be available for settlement and Mr. Brown made a careful examination of the property.

Mr. Brown states that in his judgment the land will not be suitable for opening for homesteads for it is not under water except that owned by the McBryde Plantation Company. He believes that it will be an advantage to the Territorial Government to exchange a portion of this property for 2200 acres of land adjacent to Koloa now owned by the McBryde plantation. This land is bordering on the village of Koloa and is close to the steamer landing. It is well watered and is much better land for homestead than the other. He will in all likelihood recommend that the exchange be made provided that proper terms can be arranged with the plantation.

Bush Off for Maui.

John E. Bush, Democratic candidate for the Legislature, left on the Kinau yesterday.

day for Lahaina, where he will commence a speaking tour of that portion of the island of Maui. He will meet Prince David at Maalaea on Friday and the two will work together. Their stay on the island is indefinite, depending largely upon the success of their mission. Bush is confident of making converts right and left.

"BOB" IN SEATTLE.

Wilcox Will Be Written up in That Town Soon.

"Bob" Wilcox is to have his photograph in a Seattle paper. When requested to allow his physiognomy to be presented to Seattle newspaper readers "Bob" jumped at the chance. His last picture reproduced in a Seattle paper was one of himself decked out in the uniform of the Italian Army. Now it is to be plain "Bob" Wilcox, the politician. One of the first questions asked by Wilcox when the request was made was, "Do you know Cayless in Seattle? He is a prominent lawyer there."

"Bob" was somewhat taken aback when the correspondent said he had never heard of him. However, that won't prevent "Bob's" enviable military record from being written up with all the frills and trimmings of his glorious career while he led the Revolutionists—from the rear.

COLONEL BAIRD IS BADLY INJURED

United States District Attorney Run Down by Chinese Hackman.

United States District Attorney John C. Baird met with a serious accident yesterday as a result of a collision with a hack driven by a Chinese hackman and that he was not killed was no fault of the hackman. Colonel Baird was riding down Alakea street from Hotel to King on a bicycle. As he neared King street a hack driven by a Chinese which had been just in front of him stopped suddenly and turned directly across the street. Colonel Baird shouted to the driver but he gave never a look behind and before the District Attorney could stop his wheel he ran full into the rear wheel of the hack. The force of the collision threw him entirely over the wheel of the hack and he fell on his head on one of the springs, cutting a frightful gash in his neck just under the chin.

As soon as he saw what the result of his carelessness had been the Chinese whipped up his horse and drove rapidly up Alakea street as fast as he could. Col. Baird picked himself up and dazed as he was by the fall, managed to make his way to a near-by barber shop. He did not realize how badly he was injured, but seeing that he was bleeding somewhat, he asked for something to stop the blood.

"Good Lord, sir," cried the barber, looking at him with horror; "you need a doctor right away."

Dr. Galbraith was summoned and he took a number of stitches in Colonel Baird's wound, finally succeeding in stopping the flow of blood. The doctor stated that another quarter of an inch and one of the larger facial arteries would have been severed and death from hemorrhage might have resulted. The doctor could plainly see the artery pulsating as it was exposed by the cut.

Colonel Baird was at his office during the day despite his injury and his bandaged face. "These Chinese ought to have their licenses removed," said he. "They are the most careless drivers I ever saw. They never think of looking back when they turn round and half a dozen times I have seen accidents narrowly escaped on account of that trait in them. Some day some one will be killed by meeting with such an accident as I did this morning."
